

COOKIE FILE POLICY

What are cookies?

A cookie is a text file that your web browser saves on your computer or on another mobile device where you browse our Site (tablet, mobile phone). Each time you click on a link in the Service or send a form, the cookie is sent to the Service. This way the information in it is saved for us.

Expiration date of cookies

Cookies remain on your computer for a specified period of time. Some of the cookies are removed from your computer when you close your web browser. Session cookies. Others remain saved for a long time, eg for a year, they are so called. Persistent cookie.

Deleting and blocking cookies

The web browser automatically removes expired cookies. Irrespective of this, you can manually delete cookies using advanced web browser options, or disable cookies permanently. Then cookies from the Service will not be stored on your computer. Blocking certain cookies may, however, lead to malfunction of the Service and to the lack of access to certain features of the Service.

Exhibitor of cookies

An exhibitor of some cookies is OpenBenefit.pl. There are also cookies issued by external statistics systems for the use of the Service and cookies issued by our marketing partners providing marketing services.

What are cookies used for?

With persistent cookies, you can present content more tailored to your preferences. In a persistent cookie, we save eg the page of the most recently visited category in the Website. Thanks to this, when you return after some time to the Service, you will be presented with the most recently viewed category.

In persistent cookie files are also recorded statistical information, such as which pages in the Service looked at the User. This information is anonymous and does not allow you to identify yourself.

In session cookies are stored information about the so-called. Session on the Service and on this basis you can tell if the User is logged. With these files, you can view the My Account tab or print Coupons.

Cookies of our marketing partners providing marketing services serve to personalize the advertising content presented to you based on the offers you view on the Website.

Personal information and cookies

Irrespective of the expiration date or the cookie issuer, no personal data of the User are explicitly recorded there. Only after correct logging in to the Service is the session cookie associated with the personal data entered by the User at the time of registration. These data, however, are not directly written in the cookie, and are therefore not permanently stored on your computer.
